MSP-Avionics, MSP-Mechanical and CASPSM

West Star can provide options for your out of warranty avionics and mechanical components with the Maintenance Service Programs, the perfect solution to keep your aircraft flying and control your annual maintenance budget. Protect your avionics and save big on failed components no longer covered under warranty.

Maintenance Service Plan Avionics and Mechanical Components from Honeywell, formerly HAPP and MPP, provide options for coverage for more than 50 different platforms from commercial helicopters to business and general aviation. Selectable options enable you to choose the level of coverage that is right for you, including Extended Coverage for the obsolete Laserefs, display units and control display units.

Collins Avionics Service Program – CASPSM from Collins Aerospace is designed to maximize aircraft availability while reducing unplanned maintenance expenses. CASPSM covers Collins avionics and cabin electronics equipment for commercial helicopters, turboprops, and business jets.

*Only certain platforms qualify for MSP-Mechanical and Extended Coverages
